

AgawDilim

ABOUT

Dusk falling...that deep blue sky right before night. AgawDilim - Tagalog for “dusk falling” and Kurdish for “awakened heart”- brings together Persian santoor and jazz-influenced keys to create a vibrant and global sound. Babak Soleimani, on the Santoor, fuses Iranian sounds with contemporary grooves. Pianist Veena Kulkarni-Rankin joins with blues and classically-influenced keyboard work. Drums and bass bring out the international rhythms. With their versatility of style, AgawDilim bridges and brings together the sounds of different cultures with contemporary grooves.
